VEP In-Action

Rapid Response

John D. was laid off from Soundview Paper in 2024 after decades of paper handling, shipping, and logistics experience. A CDL driver, forklift operator, and skilled facility worker SHOULD have his pick of jobs in the region.

However, like many Vermonters, John couldn't use a computer well, and could not effectively search for or apply to jobs.

BDCC staff met John onsite at his former employers, and within 90 minutes captured 30+ years of skills, directed him to local employers in-search of those skills, and had printed resumes for him to bring to VDOL-coordinated hiring events later that week.

VEP In-Action

Supporting New Vermonters

Jane D. enrolled in workforce trainings and career preparation courses within weeks of arriving to Vermont from Eritrea, where she had a common career history; a mixture of formal and informal experience in food and hospitality that turned into social work and support services while living in a refugee camp.

She worked closely with a BDCC Employment Services staff to develop a resume in English, find a job, and secure an interview. On the day of the interview, the staff member had a conflict and could not attend.

Using VEP, I was able to immediately download her resume, obtain a copy of the position she was interviewing for, and had a pre-generated list of transferable skills and experiences for her to speak to.

Other features and Perks

Intuitive Career Exploration

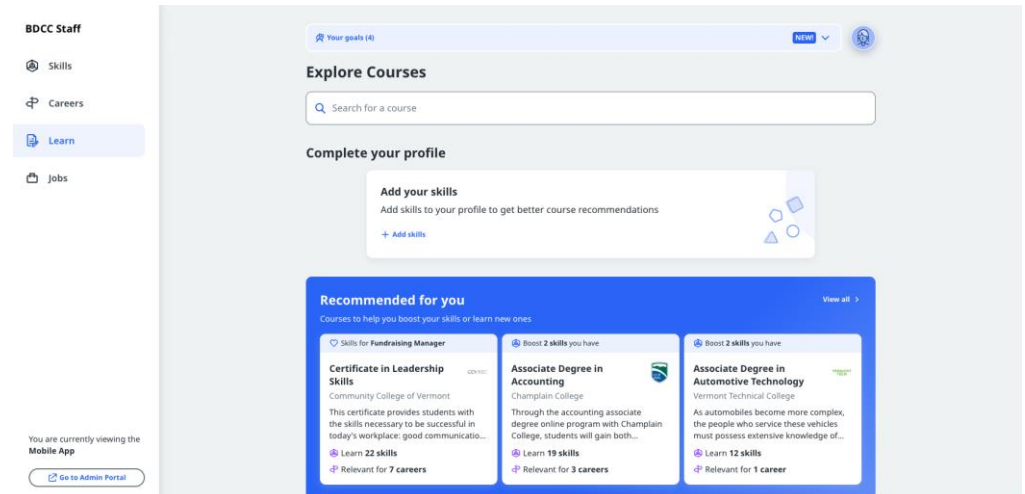

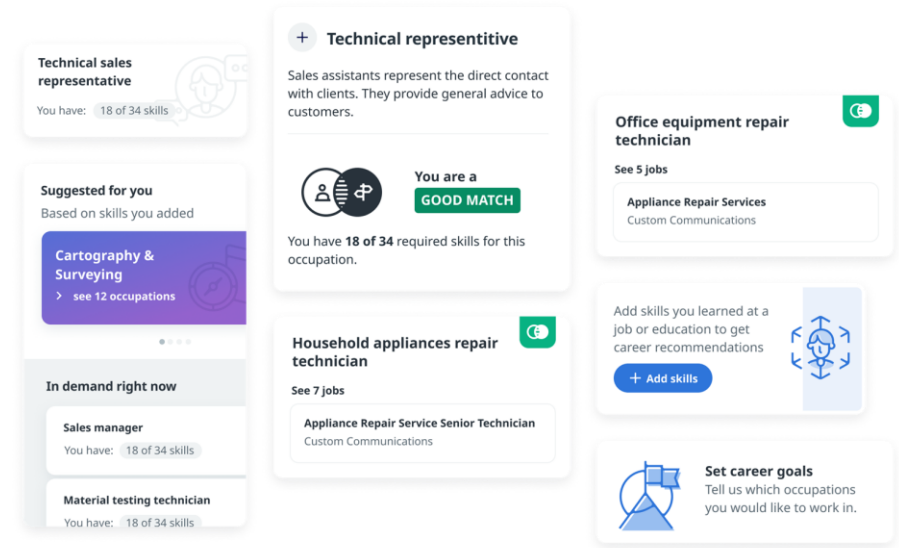

- Explore a variety of careers and industries that match your skillsets based on your personalized experiences and interest.

Filling Skills Gaps

- VEP will recommend educational opportunities that help fill the gaps in skills between users' current experiences and career aspirations.

Employer Recruitment

- Employers can create their own sign-ins to actively recruits.
